THE DIOCESE OF QU'APPELLE Anglican Church of Canada

5th September 2022

Ps 9:9 The Lord is a stronghold in times of trouble.

As the severity of the attacks in James Smith Cree Nation became known and the calamity continued to unfold yesterday, many hearts were troubled. Violence such as this is unprecedented in our province, and we can only pray for the grace of God to uphold us through this time. In the days ahead as more disturbing information will be revealed, can we keep those who are impacted by this unfathomable tragedy encircled in our ongoing prayers.

Let us Pray:

We ask for God's love to surround and comfort those who grieve the death of a family member or loved one.

We pray for God's hope and courage for those who have suffered harm, and that their physical wounds heal quickly.

We ask for God's peace to those who have been traumatised by this event, and that the community can come together in peace as they journey through this tragedy.

God calls us to turn our swords into ploughshares, and our spears into pruning hooks. God, help us to replace violence with peace, replace grief with consolation, and comfort all fears with your perfect love.

*Bring reconciliation to our hearts and lives.
Through the love and grace of Christ Jesus. Amen*

Do you have a loved one living in a care home in the Regina area? Organizing, sponsoring and providing for worship services in local care homes has assumed many forms over the years and sometimes we have been prevented from worshipping regularly with our brothers and sisters in these places for a variety of reasons, including COVID. Recently, our Bishop has tasked Rev. Winna Martin with contacting our local care homes to ascertain if there is a desire to resume or start Anglican worship services on a regular monthly basis and then put together a workable plan to ensure that this happens. Winna brings many years of experience in ministry including working in the area of seniors care and leading worship in this role. We are excited to see what the Lord has in store for this ministry!

Part of Rev. Winna Martin's mandate in providing ongoing services in seniors care homes, will be to organize a group of volunteers, which will include Deacons, retired clergy, Diocesan Readers and experienced lay leaders within the three Regina parishes.

The team of volunteers will also include, and welcome, people who are new to this ministry but who have a heart for caring for and supporting our older brothers and sisters. Training and education will be provided as needed and each of the volunteers will be licensed to this ministry by our Bishop and all will require a police and vulnerable person's certificate.

But we need more people! The broader our volunteer base the greater our presence will be in a good number of care homes within the city, especially those where we have Anglican residents .

We ask your prayers for the Lord to touch the hearts of those who might have the compassion and willingness to serve in this ministry. If you are interested in exploring this ministry, please contact Winna at martinwinna@gmail.com or 306-536-4308.

Staff spotlight: Luke Johnson, Diocesan "digital shepherd".

For about 10 years now Luke has been supporting the Diocese's digital things. He got his start in the Anglican world back in the summer of 2010. He had grown up in church and had always been deeply involved in church community — but being the "Evangelical nomad" that he was, he knew nothing of liturgy or Church seasons or bishops or synods. On a July Sunday twelve years ago, his wife and he walked into St. Aidan in Moose Jaw for the first time, and felt like they had stumbled into a hidden world. He arrived burnt out from some previous ministry involvements, and really didn't know what to expect from this new place. But very quickly the robes and colours, the shared words and actions, the quiet joy of standing around the Table each Sunday rejuvenated him. Before that first month was over, he whispered to my wife in the pew, "I want to die here!"

Out of gratitude for this new church home, Luke took charge of St. Aidan's website, wishing to help other people find the renewal he had experienced. And it turned out that working on St. Aidan's website put him on the Diocese's radar.

About 10 years ago, the Diocesan website had fallen into bad shape, and no one knew how to log into it anymore. In Bishop Greg's final year in Qu'Appelle, he asked Luke to prepare some plans for a website that could better communicate the mission of the Diocese and provide all the administrative information parishes need. It took a while to iron everything out, but the new website got underway during Bishop Rob's first year as Bishop. Luke was really grateful for the chance to help the Diocese communicate better online, and grateful also for the chance to learn how a Diocese functions.

Over all these years, Luke has served as a sort of "digital shepherd", keeping track of all the technical details and processes, and providing continuity as people have retired or moved on. We are so fortunate to have Luke on our team!

Have you ever worshipped in a small rural church?
On August 14, folks from Yorkton, Saltcoats, Churchbridge, Esterhazy, Bangor and some from rural areas nearby gathered at St Asaph's, Llewellyn, a little country church north of Bangor, Sk. to worship.

Do you feel frustrated at times with trying to make ends meet in your congregation?

This is definitely not a new struggle, nor is it unique to your congregation. Our first Bishop, Rev Canon Anson, felt that many settlers had become "so accustomed to rely on what former generations have done for the ordinary maintenance of religion, that it is difficult for them to realize that all here depends on themselves". (Source: Powell, T., "The Struggle to Become Self-Supporting", 125th Anniversary Vignettes, Diocese of Qu'Appelle).

That was over a century ago. Encouraging congregants to reflect upon the Lord's provision and how He is calling is to use those resources as His disciples has and probably will always be a challenge.

Thankfully, the Lord is faithful and patient with us!

Staff spotlight: Kate Berringer, Diocesan Coordinator

I finished a certificate in Non-Profit Leadership and Innovation from the U of R this past spring. I was then asked to consider doing some event planning for the Diocese. Next thing I knew, I was in the Synod office also discerning and exploring ways to use the knowledge I had obtained through this program to assist the Diocese with a communication strategy and strategic planning. And it would seem there may be other initiatives that the Lord has in store for me in the future.

It has been very interesting to come into an organization and be an instrumental part in developing the nature of my duties and position as I go! I have been impressed by our Diocesan leadership's willingness to wait upon the Lord as we discern how I might use my knowledge and gifts to support the Diocese going forward. The journey has been very interesting so far. Stay tuned for further updates! P.S. this is my wee cubby hole in the Synod office #godisgood

Do you know who these folks are? They are our Board of Trustees. They spend many hours overseeing the safe investment and deployment of the trusts of the Diocese.

Trusts come in many forms:

- Diocesan Trusts (Trusts controlled by the Diocese)
- Parochial Trusts (Trusts controlled by the parishes)
- Temporary Trusts (Diocesan or Parochial Trusts that allow access to the capital in the trust for the purpose stated by the trust)
- Permanent Trusts (Diocesan or Parochial Trusts that are "in perpetuity", with only the annual income eligible for use for the purpose stated by the trust)
- Externally Restricted Funds (Funds restricted by a donor, to be used for the purposes outlined by that donor)
- Internally Restricted Funds (Funds designated by the Diocese or a Parish for a specific purpose).

This entails a lot of work. We are thankful for these folks!

Our 84th Diocesan Synod will be held October 14-16 at St. Paul's Cathedral, Regina.

Will you add the following to your prayer list until the event?

- for God's grace and wisdom for the planning teams and Synod office staff
- for the delegates who will be attending
- for Bishop Helen and other leadership as they prepare

We also want to know what you'd like us to pray for at Synod!...for your parish family....for you....for anything you'd like us to lift up.... Please contact Kate Berringer, Diocesan Coordinator, kate.berringer@quappelle.anglican.ca and prayers will be offered!

SYNOD DISPLAY TABLES WANTED!

It will be a tool to give a direct and immediate response to urgent needs.

Our Diocese is here to share the love of Christ, and I am grateful to provide a way for our Diocese Family to join me in this important ministry."
